A clothing for the soul devine,

Under every grief and pine

- b) Translate the following passage into Marathi! Hindi [7]

One of the coconut trees near the pond was thunderstruck it was a headless trunk for a long time and there were at least three parrot nests on its top. I have seen many parrots entering the holes and coming out to bring food to their little ones. One day the tree was being cut. I rushed to the site and begged the tree cutters to spare the trunk as it was the home of many a parrot. But it was laughed at and the tree fell with a great thud. I ran to the top end to see two just hatched chicks thrown out of their nest and smashed to death. I looked into all the nests and saw smashed eggs in two of them and one little chick in the other one. Fortunately, the little one survived the fall. I brought it home.
